Association Free Lutheran Theological Seminary

Adopt-A-Student

The Association Free Lutheran Theological Seminary trains men in the Word of God and the teachings of the Lutheran Church. With a high view of Scripture, all classes are taught assuming the inerrancy and infallibility of the Bible. Professors are life-long students of the Word.

We are thankful to God for the students He has sent to AFLTS. Although our tuition is low (thanks to our supporters), finances remain a barrier, especially for those who have families.

Please consider sponsoring or “adopting” a student. When you adopt a student, you are committing to support him financially and prayerfully for a minimum of one semester. Should you desire to “adopt” a student, please inform the seminary, and you will be matched with a student in need. This student will share prayer requests, insights from his studies in the Word, and news about his family with the sponsor. This will be a mutually edifying relationship as God provides the AFLC with prepared servants for the Church.

Note to potential sponsors: The Adopt-a-Student program is a way to help AFLTS prepare pastors to serve our AFLC congregations. If you wish to adopt a student, please contact the seminary. A student will be selected for you. We cannot issue a tax deductible receipt if the donor chooses the “adopted” student.

Your prayers and support are needed because:

- ◆ the goal of balancing life as a student with the priority of providing godly leadership for one's family,
- ◆ some students have previous educational loans which may contribute to a very tight budget,
- ◆ some students are second-career men with families and have left homes, jobs and convenient surroundings in order to settle in the Twin Cities,
- ◆ The total cost for tuition, books and housing is approximately $25,000 per year.
